

FINTECH & REGULATORY ASSOCIATE / COUNSEL

October 26, 2020

Mitchell Sandler LLC is seeking a mid- / senior-level Associate or Counsel to join its growing financial technology and regulatory practice groups. In this role, the candidate will join a team of experienced fintech enthusiasts advising early-stage, growth-stage and mature fintech companies and financial institutions on commercial, regulatory, risk, strategy, corporate, and governance matters.

The Ideal Candidate Will Have:

- 4–10 years of legal experience in a law firm, financial institution, fintech company, or relevant regulator with exposure to financial regulatory, commercial, and corporate matters;
- Experience reviewing and drafting a variety of commercial contracts, bank partner / program management agreements, and vendor agreements;
- Experience drafting or reviewing bank charter applications a plus;
- Managed client relationships and led teams to deliver strong results;
- Knowledge of applicable federal and state laws, regulations, and guidance pertaining to banking, payments, lending and/or other financial services and related consumer protections;
- Familiarity with financial infrastructure, cybersecurity, and data privacy issues a plus;
- Excellent attention to detail, communication, and workflow management skills;
- Demonstrated track record of professional and academic achievement; and
- Collegial attitude, action-oriented mindset, and desire to work in a fast-paced and tightly-knit team.

Responsibilities Will Include:

- Providing legal and regulatory advice to a variety of financial services market participants;
- Representing clients in contractual negotiations and reviewing and drafting related agreements;
- Owning projects from start to finish;
- Working closely with firm clients and managing teams as applicable;
- Following and writing about legal and market developments in fintech and financial services; and
- Supporting new client development as applicable.

About Us:
